

Andrea Powers
Associate Professor of Psychology, Modified Retirement
Sul Ross State University
P.O. Box C-157
432) 837-8157
apowers@sulross.edu

Last updated: February 2017

EDUCATION:

- Ph.D. Psychology. University of Vermont.
Burlington, Vermont. 05405.
Conferred May 1990
- M.A. Psychology. University of Vermont.
Burlington, Vermont. 05405.
Conferred March 1988
- B.A. Psychology. Western State College.
Gunnison, Colorado, 81230.
Conferred Magna Cum Laude, May 1985.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE:

- 9/97-Present Assistant Professor of Psychology
Sul Ross State University
Alpine, Texas
- 9/96-6/97 Assistant Professor of Psychology
Western State College of Colorado
Gunnison, Colorado
- 9/90-8/96 Instructor of Psychology
Fort Lewis College
Durango, Colorado
- 9/95-6/96 Faculty Consultant for graduate students
Attending Regis University
Denver, Colorado
- 9/91-12/92 Instructor of Psychology
Pueblo Community College
Durango, Colorado
- 9/86-5/87 Teaching Assistant, Department of Psychology

9/89-5/90 University of Vermont
This position involved instructing students in experimental design, research methods, and statistical analysis.

PUBLICATIONS:

Powers, A.L. (1997). Shyness as a predictor of substance use. Journal of Experimental Research in Personality. (Submitted).

Sobrero, A.P., & Bouton, M.A. (1989). Effects of Stimuli Present During Oral Morphine Administration on Withdrawal and Subsequent Consumption. Psychobiology, 17 (2). 179-190. *

Drake, R.A. & Sobrero, A.P. (1988) Lateral Orientation Effects Upon Trait-Behavior Consistency. Journal of Social Psychology, 127 (6). 639-651. *

RESEARCH AND PROFESSIONAL PRESENTATIONS:

9/88-9/89 Research Assistant, Vermont Alcohol Research Center
Burlington, VT
The primary focus was on substance use and abuse among teens and young adults.

9/87-8/88 Research Assistant, Department of Psychiatry
University of Vermont
The research comprised a number of studies investigating the effects of various drugs on human physiology and performance

5/87-9/87 Research Assistant, Department of Psychology
University of Vermont
The focus of research was on conditioned bradycardia in the rabbit.

9/85-8/86 Research Assistant, Department of Psychology
Western State College
The position involved the investigation of asymmetry of brain functioning and attitude-behavior consistency.