COURSE DESCRIPTION

Movies – good ones, anyway – are about more than the story on the surface. A well-directed movie has subtextual ideas embedded in images, patterns, compositions, sounds, and thematic constructions. This class is about learning to recognize these elements and their use. In this class, the goal is to learn to “read” a film in the same way one might understand the allegory in a well-written piece of literature.

Further, this class has as its goal a survey of cinema offerings from around the world. Too often, we define our tastes in a narrow “amero-centric” window. While Hollywood is exceeded in output only by Bollywood, Many nations around the globe have vibrant, valid, and interesting cinema cultures. This class is an attempt to broaden both the idea of what a movie can be and your own personal tastes.

The films selected for this semester are a tiny fraction of the outstanding output of these directors – and dozens more (both directors and films) were contenders. In every single case, we are just barely scratching the surface of the national output of each of these countries – can you think of a single film that, by itself, represents the totality of American film culture? Ridiculous. So the selection of each film presented this semester was made using the following criteria:

- 1) Does the film have theme beyond the entertainment value of the story? (in other words, is this film about “something more?”)
- 2) Is the film recognized within the canon of film criticism as defining in its particular genre?
- 3) Does the film have a particular strength or element suited to a lecture topic in this class?
- 4) Is the film in English? Then we’re not showing it.

Reading a film is an acquired skill, and it takes some time and effort to develop your “cinema muscles.” Some of the titles we’re screening may be films you’ve already seen. Some may be completely new. In either case, I think you'll see films in a whole new way by the end of this class. I hope you do.

REQUIRED TEXT

NONE. But you must see all the films. All of them. Every single one. And you gotta stay awake.

COURSE EXPECTATIONS

- 1) Your positive attitude is the difference between success and failure in art, life, and this class.
- 2) You will be on time. Which means, at minimum, five minutes before start of class.
- 3) Screenings, whether you've already seen the movie or not, are NOT optional. Much the same way you have to read the book to succeed in a literature class, you have to have seen the movie to participate in the class discussion.

PREREQUISITES

None.

PROGRAM LEARNING OBJECTIVES

This course is designed to meet one or more of the program learning outcomes applied to all Communication majors.

The graduating student will demonstrate:

- 1) competency for appropriate oral communication in public presentations.
- 2) competency for appropriate use of presentation software – specifically power point.
- 3) the ability to analyze arguments including identification of the major elements of the argument such as claims, warrants, data and backing
- 4) competency in appropriate discipline specific written communication.
- 5) the ability to apply communication theory to the analysis of communication situations.
- 6) competency in the use of media technology including video, audio and web technologies.
- 7) general knowledge of communication concepts and terminology

COURSE OBJECTIVES

By the end of this class, students will:

- Demonstrate a working vocabulary of terminology of film criticism
- Articulate the component elements of cinema
- Evaluate and critique cinematic works from the standpoints of both art and craft.
- Recognize and define elements that belong to individual national cinematic tradition – EG: French New Wave, Italian Neo-realism.
- Synthesize the elements of cinema critique into an individuated point-of-view in written form. As a graduate section, this is an objective of particular emphasis.

COURSE ASSIGNMENTS:

- 1) Weekly written journal response to the screening
- 2) Mid-Term Paper
- 3) Mandatory attendance at screenings
- 4) Full participation in class discussion / critique
- 5) Final Paper

GRADING

Assignments are valued as follows:

- | | |
|--|-----|
| 1) Weekly written responses to screening | 30% |
| 2) Mid-Term Paper | 20% |
| 3) Mandatory attendance at screenings | 10% |
| 4) Full participation in class discussion / critique | 10% |
| 5) Final Paper | 30% |

Grading Criteria:

A = Exceptional. Demonstrates mastery of material beyond expectation. Professional quality of work. Highest level of scholarship.

B = Above average. Demonstrates mastery of material. Work is of better-than-expected quality, but not quite professional. High level of scholarship.

C = Average. Demonstrates proficiency with material. Work is of amateur quality. Ordinary level of scholarship.

D = Below Average. Less than proficient with material. Work shows errors, careless mistakes, or is just plain wrong. Poor scholarship.

F – Failure. Material incomplete. Work grossly negligent or incomplete. No evidence of scholarship present.

LATE PAPERS

Deadlines are an inescapable part of responsible, professional, adult life. Late papers will lose a letter grade for each day that the paper is late.

If you discover, a week or more in advance, that you have multiple deadlines converging on the same day, you may request a change in deadline. Such a change may be granted at the instructor's discretion. Once the deadline has passed, it's too late to ask for exceptions. Manage your time and deadlines wisely.

TARDINESS / ABSENCE POLICY

Attendance is 25% of your grade. That's the difference between an "A" and a "C"...or a really easy way to earn an "F."

TARDINESS

Class BEGINS EXACTLY AT THE APPOINTED TIME. It is your responsibility to be prepared to begin BEFORE the class starts.

Three instances of tardiness is equivalent to one absence. See below for the class absence policy.

THE INSTRUCTOR RESERVES THE RIGHT TO DENY ENTRY TO STUDENTS WHO ARE NOT PRESENT AT THE START OF CLASS* – ON THE HOUR. PLAN ACCORDINGLY. ON-TIME is EARLY!

*Exceptions will be made only for those with classes located in RAS whose end time makes on-time arrival impossible.

Punctuality is essential in this business. Tardiness will not be tolerated.

Absence Policy, from the Sul Ross State University 2012-2014 Course Catalogue:

CLASS ATTENDANCE

Regular class attendance is important to the attainment of the educational objectives of the University. Each instructor will keep class attendance records, and the instructor's policy on class attendance will be explained at the beginning of the semester or term.

The instructors will drop a student from a course when the student has a total of nine absences. A student will be dropped for excessive absences in remedial courses after nine absences.

An absence is defined as non-attendance in fifty minutes of class; for example, non-attendance in a one and one-half hour class will constitute one and one-half absences and non-attendance in a three hour class will constitute three absences. An absence because of participation in an official University activity is considered to be an authorized absence.
