II. Course Overview:

This course is designed to aid the student in the understanding of theatre history from the English Restoration through contemporary times.

The student will investigate the including historical periods, playwrights, plays, social and political conditions and acting styles of each period of theatrical history.

The student will have the opportunity to critically analyze the impact of social, economic, and political influences on theatre during the various periods of theatre history from 1660 -2013.

Also the student will be able to discern the important theatre genres/styles, works, and artists during the last 400 years.

Utilizing assigned research and analytical rubrics, students will work individually and cooperatively in small groups to develop class projects and presentations.

The graduate student will research and present a 30 minute discussion/lecture on a selected theatrical topic.

Additionally, the student will utilize acquired knowledge to analyze and critically assess three Sul Ross theatrical productions/events.

The course assignments, discussions, and other instructional materials/modules will be supplemented through materials in Blackboard and/or the Web. All quizzes and tests will be administered exclusively through Blackboard.

III. Course Objectives:

By the end of this course the student should be able to

- Critically understand the origins, progression, and the development of theatre;
- Assess the significance of the works within their time period, the oeuvre of the playwright, and the innovations, if any, of the play to world of dramatic literature;
- Creatively present a multimedia/dimensional analysis of an assigned research project;
- Research and present salient information on a theatrical topic in an organized and effective manner; and
- Communicate successfully written critical assessments of theatrical performances and printed works.

IV. Program Learning Outcomes:

The graduating student will demonstrate:

16. demonstrate their understanding of acting, directing, playwriting or design in the areas of set, sound, or make-up.

V. Course Requirements:

- A. Three examinations, including the final exam, will be given. The tests will cover material from the text, lectures, demonstrations, reading and viewing materials, guest lectures, and SRSU theatrical productions. All examinations will be given in Blackboard 9.
- B. Announced and unannounced quizzes will be given during the semester. All quizzes will be given in Blackboard 9.
- C. The student will be required to present/participate in two class projects i.e.: a Turn-of-the-20th Century Social, and a 60's Happening. Small groups of students will each present an "active" portion of the projects, which may include cutting(s) from plays, a demonstration of theatrical styles of the period, reenactments of period playwrights or religious/ political/social figures, or samples of non-theatrical forms of entertainment.
- D. The student will present 8 short oral/written reports over an assigned research topic.
- E. The graduate student will research a selected theatrical topic and present a 30-minute discussion/lecture to the entire class either in class or via Blackboard.
- F. Three short, written analytical/discussion papers on the SRSU theatrical productions will be required. The student will be required to critique two of the SRSU spring theatrical productions and to submit a two page, typewritten critical assessment of the play, including discussion of genre, the MDQ, the protagonist, the antagonist, and use of Aristotelean elements. All critiques are due the first class period after the close of each play.
- G. The student will be required to create a digital theatrical history time-line to include all of the major plays, playwrights, theatrical events and discoveries/inventions, plus the major social, political and religious events, and major discoveries and inventions, which helped define the theatre of the period. The timeline will begin with the English Restoration and continue through contemporary theatre. The project will be due by 4 pm, Wednesday, May 6.
- H. Participation in all class activities, discussions, demonstrations, etc. is required.

VI. Criteria For Grade Evaluation:

- A. Each student will be graded upon the basis of the assignment's guidelines and the completeness and effectiveness of the presentation/assignment.
- B. Breakdown of grading percentages is as follows:

- |  |     |
|--|-----|
| 1. Small Group Presentations (2 at 5%) | 10% |
| 2. Timeline of Theatre History         | 8%  |
| 3. Examinations (3 @ 11%)              | 33% |
| 4. Quizzes (Lowest grade dropped)      | 21% |
| 5. Research Presentations (8 @ 1%)     | 8%  |
| 6. Play critiques (2 @ 4%)             | 8%  |
| 7. Graduate Research Presentation      | 10% |
| 7. Participation & Attendance          | 2%  |
- C. Grading will be on a 100 points system as follows:
93-100+ = A    84-92 = B    75-83= C    66-74 = D    Below 66 = F
- D. Examinations and quizzes must be completed by the designated day and time.
- E. Assignments that are late will be penalized 25 points per class period.
- F. Since the final grade is dependent upon the total number of accumulated points, it is important that all work be completed and turned in.
- G. Extra credit: (0-100 points) Extra credit may be given for participation/involvement in any of this semester's SRSU theatrical productions. Points will be awarded on the basis of the quality and the level of participation. Extra credit will not be given if the student is enrolled in Theatre Production Workshop or any of the Theatre Workshop courses, unless the requirements for that class have already been fulfilled.
