COURSE DESCRIPTION AND OBJECTIVES: BRITISH LITERATURE II includes representative works and authors from the period of British literature from 1800 to the present. Students enrolled in the class will meet the following objectives by reading, discussing, and writing about the works assigned: (1) to become familiar with the major writers and works of British literature, 1800 to the present; (2) to become familiar with various literary movements in British literature, 1800 to the present; (3) to understand and be able to apply the methods of literary analysis that are in current use; and (4) to become capable of writing an organized, perceptive study of some literary topic taken from British literature, 1800-present [topics based on the works of authors from the British Isles during the 19th century and works of authors from the British Isles and former colonies during the 20th—21st centuries]. The objectives for this course are based on the Texas Coordinating Board Learning Outcomes for the survey course in the second half of English Literature in which students are required to

- (1) Identify key ideas, representative authors and works, significant historical and/or cultural events, and characteristic perspectives and attitudes expressed in the literature;
- (2) Demonstrate understanding of literary works as expressions of individual human values with the social, political, cultural and/or religious contexts of the period;
- (3) Demonstrate understanding of the development of characteristic literary forms and styles of expression during this historical period covered in this course;
- (4) Articulate the aesthetic principles that guide the scope and variety of works considered in this course;
- (5) and Produce research-based critical essays about the assigned reading in clear and grammatically correct prose, using various critical approaches to literature, and correct documented paper writing format.

STUDENT REQUIREMENTS FOR THE CLASS: Students will be required to read and be prepared to discuss the works and authors on the days assigned, as indicated on the tentative schedule of assignments (the actual reading assignment for the subsequent class will be verified at the end of each class meeting); students must also pass written examinations on the material assigned for reading and discussed in class; and finally, students must complete a research paper on a topic in British Literature 1800 to the Present (just before the spring break, students will turn in a statement of topic and partial annotated bibliography to indicate their choice of topic).

COURSE GRADE: The course grade will be an average of the following assignments with the percentages indicated used to calculate the student's assigned grade.

EXAM I	= 25%	Poetry Reading Project = 1%-10% (as bonus points)
Exam II	= 25%	Critical Analysis Paper= 25%
Exam III	= 25%	TOTAL Average = 100% of grade + optional points

I will add together the individual numerical grades of Exam I, Exam II, Exam III, and the Critical Analysis Paper and divide that total by 4; the resulting dividend will be the basis for the letter grade in the class.

Letter Grades based on average: A: 89.51-100+; B: 79.51-89.5; C: 69.51-79.5; D: 60-69.5; Below 60 = F.

WRITING ASSIGNMENT: a working, annotated bibliography exercise and a documented research paper [8-15] pages of text including citations using the current MLA SYSTEM OF DOCUMENTATION and parenthetical notation and a bibliography. Examples papers will be available. Part of this research paper assignment, is a graded, preliminary search bibliography exercise. Once the topic for the research paper is selected for this assignment, shifts to a different subject will not be allowed after the bibliography exercise is submitted.

Distance Education Statement: Students enrolled in distance education courses have equal access to the university's academic support services, library resources, and instructional technology support. For more information about accessing these resources, visit the SRSU website. Students should submit online assignments through Blackboard or SRSU email, each which require secure login information to verify students' identities and to protect students' information. Exams must be proctored by a staff employee at the school in which they are enrolled. The procedures for filing a student complaint are included in the SRSU student handbook. Students enrolled in distance education courses at Sul Ross are expected to adhere to all policies pertaining to academic honesty and appropriate student conduct, as described in the student handbook. Students in web-based courses must maintain appropriate equipment and software, according to the needs and requirements of the course, as outlined on the SRSU website.

*Sul Ross State University is committed to equal access in compliance with the Americans With Disabilities Act of 1973.
