

Children's and Adolescent Literature
English 3311
Spring 2015

Don Walden, Ph.D.

dwalden@sulross.edu

Office B106; 758-5018

Office Hours: Wednesday, noon to 4:30

Split
web

Meet in D113 on the days noted in the schedule

Goals

This course is about genres of children's literature, such as fairy tales and modern fiction. We will not read the books for their own sakes, but as representatives of various genres and styles. After taking the course, you should understand what the genres are and have criteria for each and ideas about ways to select books and present them.

After taking the course you should:

- know how children learn to enjoy reading
- know what books mean to children and how to make reading meaningful
- be able to develop a reading program for a particular level
- be able to develop your own way to evaluate and present children's books
- know children's books from a variety of cultures and times

Grading

Your grade will be based on how well you understand the principles of selecting books for children and presenting them. You will take quizzes, give reports, write essays, and prepare a reading program. A perfect score will be 1,000; if you get 900 or more, you will get an A and so on.

Reading program. 270 points. You will develop a reading program for the age group you plan to teach. You will determine your goals and evaluate books according to those goals and finally decide, for example, which books you would use for certain activities.

Essay on children's responses or an adolescent's interests. 100 points. If you plan to teach young children, you will read a book to children and write a two-page essay on their responses, answering questions such as how the child showed that the book developed his or her imagination. If you plan to teach older children, you will interview an adolescent and write about how you could use his or her interests to get him interested in reading.

Analyses. 520 points. After reading a book, you will answer questions designed to help you analyze the book according to criteria of the genre.

Teaching plans. 70 points. In addition to the analyses, you will submit short plans about how you would teach seven of the books. That does not mean you would necessarily teach the book, but you would need to know how to discuss books like it.

Class participation. 40 points. You will post two questions on Blackboard and answer two questions and will get 50 points for each posting and each answer.

Submitting assignments

Submit assignments to my e-mail: dwalden@sulross.edu. Each assignment tells what you are supposed to put in the subject line.

Plagiarism

Plagiarized work will not be accepted. Plagiarism means turning in someone else's work for credit. We will discuss documentation and citation so you will know how to submit work without plagiarizing. If you plagiarize work, I shall drop you from the class with an F and turn your name over to the dean.

Texts

Babbitt, Tuck Everlasting

Carroll, Alice's Adventures in Wonderland

Cheney, We the People

Freedman, Lincoln, a Photobiography

Giblin, When the Plague Strikes

Prelutsky, The Random House Book of Poetry for Children

Sachar, Holes

Tafolla, The Holy Tortilla and a Pot of Beans

Twain, The Adventures of Tom Sawyer

Velásquez, Maya's Divided World

White, Charlotte's Web

In addition, the library has a shelf of children's books that you can use to plan your reading program.

You can use Huck and Kiefer to prepare your oral discussions.

Students with disabilities

Sul Ross State University Rio Grande College is committed to equal access in compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1973. Students who need accessibility services should contact Kathy Biddick at 830-279-3003. The address is 2623 Garner Field Road, Uvalde, Texas 78801.

Distance education

Students enrolled in distance education courses have equal access to the university's academic support services, library resources, and instructional technology support. For more information about accessing these resources, visit the SRSU website. Students should submit online assignments through Blackboard or SRSU email, which require secure login information to verify students' identities and to protect students' information. The procedures for filing a student complaint are included in the student handbook. Students enrolled in distance education courses at Sul Ross are expected to adhere to all policies pertaining to academic honesty and appropriate student conduct, as described in the student handbook. Students in web-based courses must maintain appropriate equipment and software, according to the needs and requirements of the course, as outlined on the SRSU website.

January 20

Introduction to the course
Meet in Room D113

January 22

Introduction to poetry
Meet in Room D113

January 27

Due: scanning poetry

January 29

Due: finding examples of poetic techniques

February 3

The Little Mermaid
Due: Analysis of plot, character, etc. in The Little Mermaid

February 5

Due: analysis of theme, symbolism, etc. in The Little Mermaid

February 10

Analysis of Alice in Wonderland

February 12

Teaching Alice

February 17

Due: analysis of Plot, character, theme, etc. in Charlotte's Web

February 18

Due: your first online post

February 19

Due: a plan for teaching Charlotte's Web

February 20

Due: response to the first online post

February 24
Due: Analysis of Tuck Everlasting

February 26
Due: a plan for teaching Tuck Everlasting

March 3
Due: analysis of Holes

March 5
Due: a plan for teaching Holes

March 10
Due: analysis of The Holy Tortilla and a Pot of Beans as multicultural literature

March 11
Due: the second online post

March 17 and 19
Spring break. No assignments

March 24
Due: analysis of ways to present Maya's Divided World

March 25
Due: the second online posting

March 26
Due: response to the second online posting

March 31
Due: response to Tom Sawyer as historical realism

April 2
We, the People

April 9
Due: analysis of Lincoln: A photobiography as non-fiction

April 14
Due: analysis of When the Plague Strikes as non-fiction

April 16
A plan for teaching When the Plague Strikes

April 21
Essay

April 23
Due: Part 1 of your reading program: report on a class's reading proficiency

April 28
Due: goals of your reading program

April 30
Due: 10 books for your reading program

May 5

Due: Part 4 of your reading program

May 7

Due: Part 5 of your reading program

May 13, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Oral presentation of your reading program

Meet in Room D113