Introduction

Communication is largely unavoidable in our everyday lives. Generally, humans send and receive messages both verbally and nonverbally every day. As humans, it is practically impossible for us to not communicate. Understanding human communication can be useful to everyone no matter what field they intend to study. The knowledge and skills you acquire in this course have the potential for developing and assisting you in numerous ways. Throughout this course you may become a more critical receiver of messages, you may gain insight on how to improve your relationships, you may become a better citizen, and you may increase your confidence.

This course is designed to introduce you to the major areas and skills of the broad discipline of communication. As your instructor, I will assist you in increasing your knowledge about and skills in employing verbal and nonverbal messages in a variety of settings (i.e., intrapersonal, interpersonal, group, and public contexts). By studying the processes of communication and applying communication theory and principles to diverse real-life situations, you will have an opportunity to practice and analyze communication skills in various contexts.

In addition, this course is designed to compel you to enter the discipline of communication studies. For those of you who decide not to enroll in any further communication courses, this course will provide you with a thorough foundation in research, theory, and skills of this essential social science. For those of you who will take advanced courses in communication and possibly begin a major in communication, this course will provide the essential foundation for more advanced and specialized study.

Possible Points	1000

Exams. There will be two exams in this course. Exams cover assigned reading and lecture material. The exams likely will include a mix of matching, multiple-choice, and short-answer items.

Peer Evaluation. It is my view that people often improve their public speaking skills when given appropriate and immediate feedback. You will find that the most important feedback (in life) is from that of your audience. Before you present both your informative and persuasive speeches, you will have the opportunity to practice your speech during class for an audience of around two other students. While one student listens to you and provides eye contact, the other will fill out a peer evaluation form. Each of you will take turns practicing, being the captive audience, and writing feedback on a peer evaluation form.

Interview Speech. One important function of this course is to build your confidence when speaking publicly. This speech is designed to build your confidence by giving you an opportunity to practice in front of an audience; however, you won't be alone. For this assignment, you and a partner will interview each other according to a set of questions that I will give you to guide your interview. The two of you will then be able to go to the front of the room together and introduce each other.

Oral Reading. You will need to select a piece of literature, poem, sonnet, song (within reason), or a selection from a speech. What I am looking for is for you to bring something to read in front of the class. The purpose of this assignment is to further acclimate you to the world of communicating with others. Your selection, when read, must not exceed three minutes and must be at least one minute in length.

Impromptu Speech. There are three different types of public speaking: 1) extemporaneous, 2) manuscript, and 3) impromptu. Impromptu speeches involve little or no preparation. For this speech, you will likely choose a topic from a hat and have about 5 minutes or less to prepare. Your speech must be persuasive.

Informative Speech. This will be your first of two major speeches. For this speech your specific purpose will be to inform the audience on a particular topic. You will be required to speak for at least 4 minutes, but no longer than 7. For every 30 seconds you speak over 7:30 minutes (e.g., I give a 30-second pad on the back end), I will deduct 10 points from your grade. For every 30 seconds you go under 4 minutes, I will deduct 10 points from your grade. This rule applies to both major speeches. You are required to verbally cite a minimum of three credible sources.

Persuasive Speech. This will be your second and final major speech. For this speech your specific purpose will be to persuade the audience on a particular topic. You will be required to speak for at least 4 minutes, but no longer than 7. You are required to verbally cite a minimum of 5 credible sources.

Final Exam. The final exam will largely cover the chapters not tested for in the previous exams; however, it will also cover chapters throughout the semester.

Section II. Policies

Attendance. I expect you to be in class. You are responsible for everything that goes on, including announcements, lecture material, assignments and modifications to the course schedule – this includes required reading in subsequent class meetings. Arrange with someone in the class wherein you will notify each other of relevant items in the event that one of you must be absent.

Attendance is essential to your success in this class; therefore, excessive absences will be reflected in your grade. Absences will reduce your score since you will be actively participating in activities (e.g. giving presentations, being an audience member, etc.) during every class session. Attendance will be recorded at the beginning of every class session. Fifty points will be taken away from your final grade for every unexcused absence after two unexcused absences have been recorded. Therefore, I am giving you two unexcused absences before you begin losing points. For example, if you record five unexcused absences, your grade will be reduced by 150 points (essentially a letter grade). “Excused absences” are those that have approved documentation (e.g. certified doctor’s excuses that specifically cite the class date, time, and reason for the missed day). With that said, DO NOT SCHEDULE APPOINTMENTS DURING THIS CLASS TIME. Thank you.

Classroom Demeanor. I expect the environment during class meetings to be conducive to learning. I have little tolerance for students talking among themselves when they should be listening to someone else speak. It is particularly disturbing when students talk among themselves when one of their classmates is presenting a speech, giving a report, making a comment, or observing or asking a question. I understand that some comments pertain to class material; I encourage you to share these comments with the class as a whole. Also, I would rather that cell phones, pagers, etc. not disrupt class – make sure your communications technology is shut down when class begins. If you do have a communication device that rings, beeps, vibrates, or in any other way disturbs the class, you may be asked to leave. If you choose to send text-messages during class, you may be asked to leave. If these types of disturbances become in any way chronic, routine, or repetitive, you may be dropped from the course entirely. If you feel that you need special consideration due to extenuating circumstances (e.g. your wife may go into labor soon or you anticipate a family emergency) please let me know as soon as possible.

Academic Integrity. I expect and assume that as students you conduct yourselves in accordance with the highest standards of academic honesty. Sul Ross State University reserves the right, through due process, to place on probation, suspend or expel any student who violates academic integrity and regulations by plagiarism, classroom misdemeanor, or academic dishonesty. Plagiarism includes doing and/or taking credit for someone else's work, presenting the ideas and work of others as your own, and not citing your sources if you utilize the ideas of others. Classroom misdemeanor includes cheating, allowing others to cheat, and interfering with others' ability to succeed in the course. Academic dishonesty includes procuring examination materials illegally, doing unauthorized group work, and handing in your own work for which you have already received academic credit (see Student Handbook, p. 66). I consider all forms of academic misconduct to be insulting, unacceptable, and inexcusable. These things simply do not belong on a campus of higher learning. If I find any of this, I will exercise my right to do what I can to see that the maximum penalties are levied against you. That said, I am not looking to bust you; I just want you to have a positive, honest experience. So if you are in a gray area on one of these points, see me.

Grading. Different assignments require different grading procedures. Exams and quizzes are not curved.

Missed Exams. In my experience exams are always given on the date that it says on the schedule (unless we negotiate a schedule change as a class). Accordingly, the rule on missing an exam is, simply: If you miss an exam, then you get a zero. If you produce documentation, through the Vice President of Academic Affairs, that missing the exam could reasonably be excused, then you will be able to make up the exam. If you are to miss an exam because you are representing the University in some official capacity, then you are allowed to make it up – but this likely means that you will take the exam early, not late. See me well in advance of any exam you will have to miss, and I will try to work it out with you.

Late Work. You are responsible for handing in assignments when they are due. I do not generally accept late work, and especially if you have not notified me that you're having problems before the due date arrives. If you miss a due date, you will be given full credit only if the assignment was missed because of a University-excused absence – which includes hospitalization or a serious medical condition, a family or personal emergency, or a University-sponsored activity. In order to be able to make up the assignment, you must notify me beforehand and have supporting documentation from a relevant authority that the situation or event occurred. NOTE: There is nothing in this syllabus that requires me to accept late work. If you submit work after the due date, then receiving credit depends on my allowing you to turn it in. If I do accept late work, it will likely be at half-credit.
