TEXT: Schaller, Michael. American Horizons: U.S. History in a Global Context. Concise ed. Vol. II. New York: Oxford UP, 2013. Print.
(Required)

PROGRAM LEARNING OUTCOMES:

The student will:

1. Develop an informed, critical, and articulate approach to the study of history.
2. Demonstrate knowledge of historical events, movements, major turning points and personalities of the past.
3. Demonstrate an ability to identify and relate the role that historical interpretation plays in assessments of the past.
4. Write effectively, logically and persuasively about topics in history.

COURSE ASSESSMENTS for the PLOs are as follows:

- Essays on 1st and 2nd Examinations and the Final Examination will provide assessment for PLOs 1, 2, 3 and 4.
- Reading quizzes will provide assessment for PLOs 1, 2, 3, and 4.

STUDENT LEARNING OBJECTIVES: Students who have successfully completed History 1302 should have acquired the following competencies:

1. Comprehension of the origins and evolution of the U.S. political system, with a focus on the growth of political institutions, the Constitution of the U.S., civil liberties, and civil and human rights.
2. Understanding of the evolution of U.S. foreign policy and the historic role of the U.S. in the world from 1877 to the recent past.
3. Comprehension of the concept of change over time as an historical principle.
4. Knowledge of the cultural diversity of the U.S., comprehension of the emergence of a national culture and the ability to analyze the components of the national culture.
5. Development of the ability to apply knowledge learned from reading, lectures and presentations into well-developed essays on the Reading Quizzes and the Examinations and to apply knowledge and identify correct choices in multiple choice questions.

COURSE DESCRIPTION: This is an introductory survey course in the history of the United States History from 1877 to the present. This course is designed to introduce the student to the second half of a university-level course in U.S. History. The focus will be on the geographic, social, political, military, economic, racial, ethnic, and demographic components of the American mosaic, but will also put the American “story” in context by integrating it with the broader themes of history.

You will have weekly assignments in the textbook with a reading quiz over the readings from the text and the lectures. It is very important that you do all of your reading as it is assigned. You will have an essay question on the reading quizzes and exams.

GOALS OF THE COURSE:

By the end of this course, the student should have a greater appreciation of the history of the U.S. and be prepared to move on to the study of the history of the world at large. In completing the History 1302 course, the student will have acquired the following competencies and abilities:

MAKE-UP EXAMS/QUIZZES: If you miss a quiz or a test you must make up the test the next class day. You will have a different essay question than the previous assessments.

QUIZZES: Each quiz will include questions from the reading and the lectures given that week along with an essay question. Quiz questions may include multiple choice and/or short answer.

ACADEMIC HONESTY: You must submit your own work at all times. Plagiarism will not be tolerated and students caught using words or work of others as their own will be dropped from the class. Students caught cheating on quizzes or tests will be given a zero for that particular exam.

EXPECTATIONS: Students are expected to attend class regularly and punctually. Class will be held Monday through Friday from 8:43-9:38 at Alpine High School in Room 29.
