Attendance and participation: All students are expected to attend class regularly and be on time. Because this is a graduate course, expectations for participation are heightened. The value of this program resides both in the shared discourse, lecture, and networking of class members. If you must miss a class period, prepare a 2 page, single-spaced reflection covering the topic for the evening. Phones: Please let everyone know you are attending class during this time each week, turn off your phones, and give yourself the freedom to address your full attention to this course.

Leadership books presentation: Each student will be assigned two of the three leadership books (Coulter; Gruenert & Whitaker; Lencioni). Students will prepare the major points for a discussion activity to be held on May 5. Students should prepare four discussion questions beforehand to guide discourse and to submit.

Leadership paper: Student will select a topic of educational leadership interest and write a 5-7 page paper. The paper should be APA format and should include at least five sources. These will be presented on the assigned class day and should exhibit an understanding of the principal’s role in leadership issues.

Reflection papers: These will be short (2-3 pp.) reflective pieces on certain topics assigned by the instructor. These must be typed according to APA style and should be of graduate quality. Papers may be re-submitted for higher grade.

Article presentation: Students will select a total of four articles over different topics relating to the daily class theme. Students will reproduce copies for each student in class, including reference, and will briefly present the cogent points to the class. Credible on-line sources and newspaper articles are acceptable, but periodical articles are preferred (Educational Leadership, Texas Study of Secondary Education, Phi Delta Kappan, etc.)
