COURSE DESCRIPTION:

The purpose of this class is to teach you about the several aspects of U.S. foreign policy – the history, institutions, and processes that collectively constitute U.S. foreign policymaking. Students will develop skills to analyze critically the events of U.S. foreign policy. We will explore historic events of U.S. foreign policy and relate these events to various sources of decision-making; evaluate critically various contemporary aspects of U.S. foreign policy, and relate various decisions with theoretical models developed in the literature. The same aspects of American government and society that propelled the United States to global primacy have also hampered its orderly and successful conduct of foreign policy. This paradox challenges U.S. leaders to overcome threats to America's world power in the face of fast-moving global developments and political upheavals at home.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES:

The graduating student will be able to:

1. Identify the structures and processes of U.S. foreign policy.
Method of Assessment: Weekly discussion, question creation, and Exam 1
2. Demonstrate the ability to think critically about the American political system and international relations by reading both contemporary and classic materials from a variety of sources that encompasses both objective and opinion-based points of view.
Method of Assessment: Weekly discussion, question creation, and Exam 2
3. Describe the role of diplomacy in international relations.
Method of Assessment: Weekly discussion, question creation, and Exam 2
4. Demonstrate the ability to critically analyze the historic events of U.S. foreign policy.
Method of Assessment: Weekly discussion, question creation, and Exam 3
5. Identify strengths and weaknesses of contemporary U.S. foreign policy using theoretical models relevant to the field.
Method of Assessment: Weekly discussion, question creation, and Exam 4

COURSE FORMAT & EXPECTATIONS: This course is designed to allow for a more peer-led learning vs. instructor-led lecture environment. The role of the instructor will be to guide the students through the process of understanding the course subject matter. The role of the student will be to read the materials PRIOR to each session and participate in class discussion. Specifically, it is required that each student:

1. Attend all class meetings, read, and be prepared to discuss the assigned materials.
2. Raise relevant questions and contribute relevant observations to the topic at hand.
3. Fully participate in group activities and discussions in class.
4. Demonstrate appropriate and respectful communication with classmates and the instructor.

CLASSROOM POLICIES: Each class meeting builds the foundation for subsequent class meetings. Without full participation and regular class attendance, students shall find themselves at a severe disadvantage for achieving success in higher education. You are expected to attend and be on time for each lecture. Showing up to lecture late or leaving early, without prior permission from me, will result in a 10 point grade deduction on an upcoming exam. Sul Ross State University does not tolerate cheating, plagiarism, or collusion. Procedures for dealing with these acts are outlined in the Scholastic Dishonesty Policy.

CIVILITY STATEMENT: In the classroom environment I hold each of you accountable for both your actions and words. Therefore, you should commit yourself to behave in a manner that recognizes personal respect and demonstrates concern for the personal dignity, rights, and freedoms of every individual in the classroom, including respect for University property and the physical and intellectual property of others. If a student is asked to leave the classroom because of uncivil behavior, the student may not return to that class until he or she arranges a conference with the professor, it is the student's responsibility to arrange for this conference.

ELECTRONIC DEVICES: All the functions of all personal electronic devices designed for communication and/or entertainment (cell phones, pagers, beepers, iPods, and similar devices) must be turned off and kept out of sight in the classroom. Any noncompliance with this policy will result in expulsion from class. To prevent student distraction during class, laptops are NOT allowed.

DISABILITY POLICY:

In order to receive accommodations on exams or assignments, proper documentation must first be provided to the Office of Counseling and Accessibility Services. Contact Mary Schwartz (Office: 112 Ferguson Hall) to set up an accommodations meeting, or call (432) 837-8203. COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

EXAMS- Each student will complete four exams in this course. These exams will consist of a combination of take-home and in-class essays (each exam is worth 15% of your overall final course grade) and will be due on the date specified in the course outline below. Missed exams will result in a grade of zero. Exam deadlines are inflexible and absolute – no excuses.

INDIVIDUAL REPORTS/PRESENTATIONS- Each student will be required to write a weekly report summarizing the reading(s) to be discussed in class that week. Additionally the student will develop a ‘lead discussion question’ targeted at encompassing the main points of the readings and facilitating classroom discussion. These reports will be due at the beginning of class on the week in which you present. This summary report will be handed out to each student in the class. Each report should contain 800 words or about three pages, double-spaced. Plagiarism will not be tolerated. (Report: 10% total course grade; Presentation/discussion lead question: 10% total course grade).

WEEKLY DISCUSSION QUESTIONS- Each student is required to submit 2 questions related to the reading(s) for that week. The questions should be analytical (theoretical) over the topic at hand and/or an attempt to develop a closely related line of inquiry. The purpose of these questions is to generate productive classroom discussion and demonstrate critical thinking ability with regard to the assigned reading(s). These questions are to be submitted electronically via Blackboard on Sundays @ 11:55 p.m. Students are permitted two ‘bye’ weeks (excluding week 1) in which they are not required to submit any questions. At the end of the semester I will take the average of your grade on these submissions and that grade will be worth 20% of your overall final course grade.
