Required Texts:

Cashwell, C & Young, J. (2005). Integrating spirituality and religion into counseling.
Alexandria, VA: American Counseling Association.

ISBN-13: 978-1556203107

ISBN-10: 1556203101

Course Prerequisites:

Student must have earned a grade of B or higher in EDUC 5307, EDUC6315 & EDUC 6308 and have permission of the Instructor.

Course Purpose:

This course will offer counseling students opportunities for professional development and skill enrichment that promotes the integration of spirituality into the counseling domain. To promote knowledge and skills that counselors should possess to effectively engage clients in the exploration of their spiritual and religious lives as they relate to other psychological concerns.

Course Description:

Spirituality and the search for meaning is central to the lives and ways of coping with life challenges. This course will explore the study and application of theory and techniques to assist a counselor in the appropriate integration of spirituality into the counseling process and familiarize students with assessment of a client's spiritual domain.

Student Learning Expectations / Outcome for this Course

Students will:

- Display an understanding of the similarities and differences between spirituality and religion.
- Demonstrate knowledge of research related to spirituality within counseling.
- Exhibit an understanding of techniques commonly utilized to integrate spirituality into the counseling process.
- Display the ability to assess client's spiritual domain.
- Demonstrate knowledge of the basic tenants of various religions from a culturally sensitive perspective.
- Exhibit an awareness for working with diverse populations related to spirituality.
- Demonstrate the understanding of ethical/legal issues involved in spiritual/religious issues in counseling.
- Increase self-awareness surrounding personal thoughts and feelings related to spirituality and religion and how personal life experience impacts perceptions of clients.
- Exhibit an understanding of the impact of spirituality/religion on family systems.

Course Structure and Methods of Evaluation:

This course will be taught as a graduate course, with lecture and group collaborative discussion, small group exercises, video reflections, oral presentations and reflective writing. It is expected that students will have read all readings and be prepared to engage in a conversation regarding main points and application of the readings. Students are expected to be respectful of others' opinions, share perspectives and engage in critical thought, integrate information and theories from other disciplines and course work in your writings and discussions; and engage in ethical practices.

Grading System: The final grade will be determined on the basis of achievement of student learning outcomes and fulfillment of course expectations.

A = 100-90 points B = 80-89 points C = 70-79 points D = 60-69 points F = below 60 points

Collaborative Discussion: 10 points

Small Group Exercise: 10 points

Oral Presentations: 10 points

Video Reflections: 20 points

Weekly Quizzes: 20 points

Movie Reflection Paper: 30 points

Group Enhanced Collaborative Streaming Interaction (10- points):

As your instructor, I place heavy emphasis on Individual class participation. The interactive component to this course is critical; it will enhance your critical thinking/reasoning skills, which is very important to the counseling process. Your participation will facilitate others enhancing his or her reasoning skills from drawing from your rich experience(s). The spirituality experiences communicated by students add tremendously to everyone's learning in class. Our live Enhanced Collaborative Streaming interaction will provide us the opportunity to review the week's theme of instruction and will also help to alleviate any issues or answer any questions that often arise when taking online coursework. You will need to have high-speed Internet service, and the Adobe Flash Player loaded into your personal computer. The IT department has suggested that you use Google Chrome or FireFox as your web browser to alleviate technical difficulties. I have placed a quick link to Adobe Flash Player for quick download onto his or her personal computer. Students are always welcome to use the on-campus computer lab for the Collaborate interactive weekly meetings.

Class attendance and active participation in class discussions is expected and essential to promoting student learning (yours and your classmates). Keep in mind that participation is creatively influenced; not everyone participates verbally; please be aware of your own participation style, and share air time with other students. You are expected to attend all class meetings. Also, since this course requires your active participation and is group oriented, please do not enter late or depart early.

This class meets once per week. Missing more than two classes will reduce your grade by a full letter grade. As a graduate level class, your preparation for class, attentiveness, reflection, integration of readings into class discussions, and quality of participation in class discussion and group activities through sharing experiences, issues, questions from the readings, and new learning is expected. Please bring to each class period questions or issues from the reading, the literature, or your professional experiences which you would like to raise in class. You will also be asked to work in a group and to co-facilitate part of one class with your group.

To maintain an ideal learning environment for yourself and your colleagues, please keep background activity minimal to minimize distractions and noise interference.

You will be asked to assess your own engagement via attendance, reflection, discussion in class and out, and through your immersion experience.

Deadlines for presentations and projects are firm. However, life is sometimes unpredictable; please communicate with me before the project due date if you expect to have a late assignment and we will work out a new deadline.

Small Group Exercise (10-points):

Each student shall participate in a small group discussion and collaboratively prepare the exercise on his or her own personal time. Each group shall consist of evenly allocated group members. Each group will select a video reflection and (a) discuss the authors intention, b) identify the stage of the bereavement process, (c) identify a model within a counseling area most appropriate and effective to consider the level of grief, c) discuss the overall group sentiments about grief or loss.

The purpose of this assignment is to consider how to create effective formal assessment skills while simultaneously bring-about intrinsic developmental self-awareness of spirituality. The assignment addresses the complexity, comprehensiveness, and intentionality needed for effective grief counseling. The goal is for you to engage in critical thinking and analysis about spiritual significance on outcomes of current practices and about creating more effectual conclusions.

Oral Presentations (10-points):

Delivering effective oral presentations involves three components: what you say (verbal), how you say it with your voice (vocal), and everything the audience can see about you (visual). For all three components, maximize the signal-to-noise ratio: Amplify what helps, filter out what distresses. Each student will visit and interview a religious leader and prepare a brief oral presentation that describes the experience of exploring the student held spirituality with the leader, and the conclusion of the spiritual belief. The presentation should have a strong point of emphasis and evoke conversation from other students. The presentation will not exceed five minutes in length. The oral presentation will be rated according to the Rubric.

Video Reflections (20-points):

Students will access the Video Reflections tab and review the assignment and enter a 1 to 2 paragraph reflective comment regarding the assignment. The comment must include your version of what theme or message the author is attempting to convey to his or her audience. Include any rationality, as perceived by the descriptive content; include your thoughts and emotion(s) you experienced while viewing the video, and perceptions of how the information might impact future activities. You are welcome to enter a personal experience(s) recalled while viewing the video. However, please consider any confidential or sensitive information before elaborating in a public setting.

The assignments mostly consist of short video clips, but may consist an article, or a guest person presentation. You will have ten Video Reflection activities, and each event is worth 2-points of a possible 20 points. You will see the link to the video clip embedded in the thread menu.

Weekly Quizzes (20-points)

Please complete, and thoughtfully analyze, all readings prior to class. You should come to class prepared to engage in both all class and small group discussions. Not all readings will be addressed directly during class time, but the texts will be helpful to you for other classes, setting the context of the profession, and your continuing professional development.

Each student will complete a quiz on a weekly basis. The quizzes are intended to ensure you can grasp the content of the assigned reading. There is a total of ten quizzes, and each quiz is worth 2-points of the possible 20 points.

Movie Reflection Paper (30-points)

Reflection papers are intended to move a student from passive learning to Active learning. Active learning enhances reasoning skills that are very important to a counselor. Like your forum entries, this assignment is meant to enhance your counseling skills by grasping certain content while assessing your intrinsic processes. The paper has a grade value of 30 points. I have provided students with a brief video that explains reflective learning and how to write a reflective paper. This approach will motivate your learning and perceptive skills. Since counseling is considered scientific, use an APA format to write this paper. The writing lab can assist you in understanding the mechanics involved in writhing a reflective paper. All written assignments should be completed on time and with academic integrity. All written assignments should follow APA Guidelines (as detailed in the APA Manual, 6th edition).
