

Jeanne A. Walker has been teaching as an Adjunct Professor in the Principalship Program since 2019. Public school experience includes over forty years of classroom instruction, as well as campus and district level administration. Since retirement from public education, her focus has been on supporting the work of campuses designated for school improvement. Assistance has been provided in instructional practices, development and implementation of PLCs, book studies (Get Better Faster, Leverage Leadership, Teach Like a Champion, Breakthrough Principals, Great Habits, Great Readers), effective coaching practices, Effective Schools Framework, best practices for secondary language learners and special education students. A key component has been working with campus leaders to closely monitor the learning progress of all student groups and progress toward meeting quarterly and annual goals of the Targeted Improvement Plan.
