COURSE REQUIREMENTS

1. Textbook: Your webtext (see above) is an important tool to scoring very well in your weekly online discussions and your written examinations. Without reading the online textbook chapters, you will face serious problems in comprehending this course.
2. You are required to submit to this course blackboard your weekly discussion. Always type the FULL question(s) with bold type and type your DETAILED discussion under the question. In writing your weekly discussions, you're required to use the online textbook, but you may use other sources, if you wish. You're also required to cite your discussion sources. Each discussion is worth 15/20 points. Your detailed comment to one of your colleagues' discussions is worth 5/20 points. Total points are 20/20. 20 points x 16 weeks= 320 points. The students cannot directly copy from the textbook or from other sources.
3. Four Examinations: Each examination is composed of (an) essay question(s), and will be posted in weeks 3, 6, 9, and 12. In writing their exam essays, the students are required to use the online textbook ONLY. They are required to write full citation of the source pages in the end of their essays. Copying from the textbook is unacceptable. Each exam is worth 170 points x 4 exams =680 points.
4. Class Attendance: Submitting your weekly discussion is your class attendance. The students' decline to submit their weekly discussions is considered absence from the class. The instructor is required to report the students' excessive absence to the university system.

PS: The students are encouraged to contact the course instructor by phone or e-mail for help to improve their performance.

CODE OF ACADEMIC INTEGRITY (INCLUDING PLAIGARISM)

Academic integrity is the expression of intellectual virtue in human beings. It represents the convergence of the best of the human spirit and God's spirit, which requires personal, private and community virtue. Sul Ross University affirms that integrity begins in our much-created being and is lived in our academic work.

In order for the code to be effective, the community must maintain its health and vitality. This requires a genuine sense of community, responsibility, and sensitivity in the part of every member. Each member of the student body is expected to pursue his or her academic work with honesty and integrity.

Unfortunately, students do, on occasion, violate academic integrity, and this provides a need for the discipline and an opportunity for restoration.

DISABILITY SERVICES

Sul Ross University is committed to equal access in compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1973. It is the student's responsibility to initiate a request for accessibility services. Students seeking accessibility services must contact Mary Schwartz, M. Ed., L.P.C., in Counseling and Accessibility Services, Ferguson Hill, Room 112. The mailing address is P.O. Box C-122, Sul Ross State University, Alpine, Texas 79832. Telephone: 432-837-8691. E-mail: mschwartz@sulross.edu

DISTANCE EDUCATION STATEMENT

Students enrolled in distance education courses have equal access to the university's academic support services, such as Smarthinking, library resources, such as online databases, and instructional technology support. For more information about accessing these resources, visit the SRSU websites. Students should use Sul Ross email accounts and submit online assignments through Blackboard, which requires secure login information to verify students' identities and to protect students' information.

The procedures of filing a student complaint are included in the student handbook. Students enrolled in distance education courses at Sul Ross are expected to adhere to all policies pertaining to academic honesty and appropriate student conduct, as described in the student handbook. Students in web-based courses must maintain appropriate equipment and software, according to the needs and requirements of the course, as outlined on the SRSU website.
