

Course Syllabus: Summer One History 4316: 001

Readings and Research in Modern World History

Dr. Mark Saad Saka

Sul Ross State University

Course Objectives

This course is designed as an independent readings and research course on the history of modern Asia, with an emphasis on China. The student will read three books and write and write a research paper on the topic of modern Chinese political and economic transformations: 1979-2019.