Catalog Description

A detailed look at how the construction industry works. This course is designed to explore the roles of the people involved in the design and construction process, the principal phases of a project, and the tools required to effectively manage the people and the project.

Course Description

Be sure to check Blackboard site regularly for class notes, assignments, and special announcements. Reading assignments will be given from the required textbook. The reading assignments, discussion boards, and homework will form the basis for the quizzes and tests given in the class. Tests will consist of a comprehensive multiple-choice section covering textbook material. Quizzes will be given weekly in the same multiple-choice format.

Course Outcomes

Following completion of this course, you will be able to exhibit strong technical and managerial skills, apply scientific methodologies to problem solving through critical thinking, and provide innovative creativity into day-to-day tasks, so you are equipped to become an effective construction manager.

Required Materials

Textbook

Construction Project Management, 4th Edition by Frederick Gould and Nancy Joyce, Pearson/Prentice Hall; 4th Edition ISBN-10: 0132877244 ISBN-13 978-0132877244
