COURSE DESCRIPTION: This course is a study of the principles of macroeconomics. Topics include aggregate supply and demand, the concepts of distribution as related to our highly industrialized and service-based economy, wages, interest, rent, profit, consumption, saving, investment, the business cycle, national income, fiscal and monetary policy.

COURSE OBJECTIVES: Throughout this course, each student will have the opportunity to

- gain an understanding of key macroeconomic principles
- apply economic analysis to real-world problems and
- acquire knowledge of various models of aggregate economic behavior

METHOD OF EVALUATION: Each student will earn a grade in the course according to the following assignments:

- There will be four tests, each worth 25% of the final grade given at appropriate times throughout the semester. Each will consist of a series of multiple choice questions and may include several short-answer questions.
- Each test will be numerically graded on a scale from zero to one-hundred and final letter grades will be assigned according to the following ranges: 90-100=A, 80-89=B, 70-79=C, 60-69=D, 59 or below=F.

MAKE-UP POLICY: No make-up tests will be administered and students who are absent from an examination session without a legitimate excuse will receive a grade of zero for the missed test. A legitimate excuse includes a verifiable documented medical emergency involving a student or a member of the student's immediate family. A student who has a legitimate excuse for missing a test will be allowed to take a comprehensive final exam in place of the missed test. A make-up final exam will be given only in the most extreme situations and must be completed by the last official date of the current semester. A grade of I will be issued only as a last resort in accordance with university policy.

ATTENDANCE AND DROP POLICY: All students are expected to attend all scheduled class sessions. Students desiring to drop this course should do so through the office of the registrar by the official drop date -- APRIL 1st, 2021. Any student who disrupts the educational process of this class or who is found engaging in academic dishonesty will receive a failing final grade and will be barred from further attendance. Cell Phones are disruptive and MUST be in the off or silent position at all times while in the classroom.
