

Greetings,

For all psychology classes below (except Health Psychology), all class sessions during the first week of the semester will be held at the scheduled time. However, to reduce the risks associated with Covid, class will not be held on campus. Instead, in-person and teleconference courses will be live online through the Lifesize app (a Zoom-like teleconferencing software package). You can download and install Lifesize on your home computer, tablet, or smartphone. The University should have already provided you with the links you need to access your courses. If you are confused or have questions, please contact the Office of Information Technology (OIT) for assistance.

We do not yet know how long the campus will be closed. However, as decisions are made, the University will communicate important information to you through your Sul Ross email account. That is one of many reasons it is important for you to check your Sul Ross email account at least each weekday of the semester.

A full syllabus for each course will be posted on Blackboard after the first class meeting, during which the syllabus will be discussed. Please be sure to attend the first meetings of all your classes.
