COURSE DESCRIPTION

Video Production is the process by which a moving image is committed to a media meant to preserve the image for later editing and playback. The primary difference between video and film production is that in video the capture media is electronic rather than chemical. Technological advances in the last decade, however, have led to the imminent demise of film as an image capture media, so video is the thing.

In this class, we'll be more in-depth on concepts of lighting, composition, framing, camera-and-talent blocking, and sound. More emphasis will be placed on sequence creation – the connections that make scenes hold together like sentences in a paragraph.

Further, you will be expected to work as a member of a crew – every job on a film set is important, and you will rotate through a few different positions over the course of the semester. Set operations work as a system. The order of operations are determined by the objective of each shot, and change is constant. This means that you must be present and fully-engaged. Unlike a lecture class or lab, you are not only responsible for yourself. Your whole crew – and the final outcome of the film – depends on you.

Production is time and labor-intensive. You are expected to participate in weekend work, and you will have late nights in the editing lab. You will be warned of deadlines well in advance. Plan your schedule accordingly.

GRADING

Assignments are valued as follows:

- 1) Deconstructions 20%
- 2) Short film 1 30%
- 3) Short film 2 40%
- 4) Attendance / participation in class discussion 10%

Grading Criteria:

A = Exceptional. Demonstrates mastery of material beyond expectation. Professional quality of work. Highest level of scholarship.

B = Above average. Demonstrates mastery of material. Work is of better-than-expected quality, but not quite professional. High level of scholarship.

C = Average. Demonstrates proficiency with material. Work is of amateur quality. Ordinary level of scholarship.

D = Below Average. Less than proficient with material. Work shows errors, careless mistakes, or is just plain wrong. Poor scholarship.

F – Failure. Material incomplete. Work grossly negligent or incomplete. No evidence of scholarship present.

LATE PAPERS

Deadlines are an inescapable part of responsible, professional, adult life. Late papers will lose a letter grade for each day that the paper is late.

If you discover, a week or more in advance, that you have multiple deadlines converging on the same day, you may request a change in deadline. Such a change may be granted at the instructor's discretion. Once the deadline has passed, it's too late to ask for exceptions. Manage your time and deadlines wisely.

TARDINESS / ABSENCE POLICY

Attendance is 10% of your grade. That's the difference between an "A" and a "B"...or an "F" and a "D."

TARDINESS

Class BEGINS EXACTLY AT THE APPOINTED TIME. It is your responsibility to be prepared to begin BEFORE the class starts.

Three instances of tardiness is equivalent to one absence. See below for the class absence policy.

THE INSTRUCTOR RESERVES THE RIGHT TO DENY ENTRY TO STUDENTS WHO ARE NOT PRESENT AT THE START OF CLASS* – ON THE HOUR. PLAN ACCORDINGLY. ON-TIME is EARLY!

*Exceptions will be made only for those with classes located in RAS whose end time makes on-time arrival impossible.

Punctuality is essential in this business. Tardiness will not be tolerated.

Absence Policy, from the Sul Ross State University 2012-2014 Course Catalogue:

CLASS ATTENDANCE

Regular class attendance is important to the attainment of the educational objectives of the University. Each instructor will keep class attendance records, and the instructor's policy on class attendance will be explained at the beginning of the semester or term.

The instructors will drop a student from a course when the student has a total of nine absences. A student will be dropped for excessive absences in remedial courses after nine absences.

An absence is defined as non-attendance in fifty minutes of class; for example, non-attendance in a one and one-half hour class will constitute one and one-half absences and non-attendance in a three hour class will constitute three absences. An absence because of participation in an official University activity is considered to be an authorized absence.
