Class: 6-8:45 W, EP B 114, U B111, DR 101Course Description

Learning to write is a complex, individualized process which takes place over time with continued practice and daily reading. Understanding the complex, recursive nature of enhancing writing and speaking, we will read and write every day. We will focus on developing our own vocabularies and on choosing the most precise, powerful words for papers. This class will be a writing intensive workshop course in which you will develop your reading and writing. You will write a sequence of assignments that culminates in a researched argument for our writing community and your own portfolio.

Course Outcomes

Learning to write is a complex, individualized process which takes place over time with continued practice. Student Learning Objectives and assessment of how much students learn those objectives are as follows:

- Enhanced vocabulary
- Rhetorical knowledge (purpose, audience, differences in communicative situations, genre). Assessment: argument essays;
- critical thinking, reading, and writing (locating, evaluating, analyzing, synthesizing primary and secondary sources; reflection). Assessment: in-class writing, argument essays, resource evaluations, peer critiques;
- understanding of and use of writing processes, (multiple drafts, revising, editing, proof-reading texts, peer critiquing and collaborative thinking and writing). Assessment: all essays, group work and peer critiques;
- knowledge of conventions (grammar, punctuation, spelling, paragraphing, and appropriate documentation). Assessment: in-class writing, all essays and final portfolio;
- Understanding of plagiarism, understanding and articulating the ethics of using other people's ideas, understanding the various approaches to documenting sources in the different disciplines, mastery of student's chosen documentation style guide.

Student Learning Outcomes

1. Student Learning Outcome #1 --Students will be able to construct documents that demonstrate coherence, development, organization, and appropriate/effective grammar, usage, and mechanics.
2. Student Learning Outcome #2-- Students will be able to analyze and interpret literary works by applying principles of critical thinking, literary criticism, or theoretical engagement.
3. Student Learning Outcome #3-- Students will be able to produce researched documents that demonstrate the ability to locate a variety of credible sources, employ them effectively through quotations and paraphrases, integrate them smoothly into the writer's own prose, and document them correctly using the style appropriate to the document.

Course Texts

The Craft of Research (Wayne C. Booth), any edition is fine
Grammar for Writing: Understanding the Mechanics of Grammar and How Language Works
 (Douglas Grudzina)

Assignments

Assignments will consist of reading, short quizzes on the reading, writing drafts towards a final paper, and peer-review and one on one work.

Course Policies

Scholarly Honesty

All work submitted must be your own and must be written exclusively for this class; the use of sources must be appropriately, correctly, and consistently documented. Quotations, paraphrases, or summaries that are not documented and the use of papers written by others constitute plagiarism. A "0" will be earned for any assignment exhibiting signs of plagiarism.

Three different acts are considered plagiarism:

- (1) failing to cite quotations and borrowed ideas,
- (2) failing to enclose borrowed language in quotation marks, and
- (3) failing to put summaries and paraphrases in your own words.

A grade of "F" for the course can be earned if the work exhibits any of these kinds of scholastic dishonesty.

Attendance, etc. policy

Research has shown that class attendance is an important factor in how well a student does, and how much material they retain (in other words, student success). For instance, Kassarnic et al. argue that "early and consistent class attendance strongly correlates with academic performance". Due to the coronavirus pandemic I will not penalize you for not attending, HOWEVER, it is of vital importance that you attend when able, and consistently participate in class.

It is your job to attend or view class, prepared to write and think and listen and learn, without outside distractions, other electronic devices or tasks.

Late Papers/Assignments

To pass the class you must successfully complete and turn in to me each assignment by the due date. If you fail to turn in even one assignment, you may earn an F for the course.

This is a cumulative course (one project builds from another) as a result, students who fall behind tend to stay behind and do badly in the course. Because of this I DO NOT accept assignments that are later than two days. Please prepare for electrical failures, computer meltdowns, personal crisis, etc. and notify me ASAP.

Grade Changes

Please discuss your grades with me during the semester. There is no extra credit available once the class has finished, but to make up points you may re-do assignments up to the major draft within two weeks of their return. This does not apply to the final drafts or portfolio. You forfeit the right to re-do an assignment if you plagiarize, or turn in an assignment late. Once the semester is over and I have entered grades into the system, I will not consider grade changes except where there has been a number miscalculation.

Blackboard

This course requires numerous written assignments, all of which must be submitted to Blackboard by the published deadline. Please be prepared for electronic failures, last minute issues etc. These are not acceptable excuses for missing a deadline.

I am teaching this course by teleconference in Uvalde, Del Rio, and Eagle Pass. I will not always be in the classroom that you are in which makes it difficult for you to speak with me before and after class. Please email me (see email address above) to make an appointment for us to meet or to have a phone conversation. My goal is your success! I welcome all requests for office, phone, or video conference appointments, and e-mailed questions.
