Course Description

SRSU Catalog Description: Women's roles in politics at national, state, and local levels as they reflect the economic, legal social status of women; also, an overview of related political issues, important concepts, events, and movements.

This class: There are many different approaches one could take with this topic, and there is enough information to cover several semesters. In this class, with the use of scholarly articles and discussion, we will explore the following questions:

- Why aren't there more women involved in government in the United States?
- What role does the Constitution play?
- What are the attitudes we have about women running and being elected?
- What are some of the strategies that have been used to improve the representation of women? Have they been effective? Do they have similar results for other underrepresented groups in society?
- What is the impact (perceived impact) of increased representation of women?
- What level of representation is desirable? What are other measures of progress?
- How does representation in the private sector relate to representation in the public sector?
- What does the role of the first lady play in the overall progression of women in politics?
- How do we compare with other countries in approaches, representation, and attitudes?
- What are some of the organizations that have developed related to women and government? What is their role?

ASSIGNMENTS

Introduction Post

By the end of the first week, please post an introduction that includes information about yourself (see Blackboard for more information). In addition, your introductory post needs to include the following: 1) your personal reflection on the questions we will be exploring in this class, and 2) the country you will be using throughout the semester for comparison. This is worth 30 points.

Syllabus Quiz

By the end of the first week of class (by Friday at 11:59 p.m.), please complete the syllabus quiz. You will get one attempt to take this quiz, and it is worth 20 points.

Attendance & Participation

This class is offered in both online and face-to-face formats. By choosing the face-to-face format, I'm assuming that means you prefer to learn in a face-to-face setting. Therefore, I expect you to attend and participate—and to do your part to stay healthy and alert so you can attend and participate. Attendance and participation are worth 300 points in this class. Please come prepared to participate. Being prepared to participate means:

- You have read the assigned materials
- You have paper and writing utensils to take notes
- You have removed all distractions—phone is off and stowed away, earbuds are removed, etc.
- You are on time, and you stay for the entire class
- You refrain from distracting other students during class
- You fully participate in discussions and other activities, especially when we have guest speakers

Your participation grade will be based on the items above and a self-assessment at the mid-term mark and at the end of the semester.

Policy Brief Outline

The major writing assignment for this course is a policy brief addressing the issue of women's representation in government in the United States. An outline of the brief will be due by Friday, October 27, at 11:59 p.m. This will be worth 100 points.

Reading Assignment and Organization Assignment

You will need to complete TWO reading assignments and the organization assignment. Instructions and rubrics are on Blackboard. These are due by class time on Monday. Although the organization assignment is a specific week, you get to select the two reading assignments you want to submit (there are options almost every week).

Movie Analysis

During Week 12, you will be selecting a movie to watch and analyze using the readings and discussions we have had up to that point as a lens for your analysis. Please see Blackboard for a list of suggested movies and instructions. Please ask me if you want to use a movie that is not on the list. This is due by Friday, November 17, at 5 p.m. This is worth 100 points.

Final Paper & Presentation

Instead of a final in this class, you will have a final paper (the policy brief described above) and presentation. Your final paper will be a policy brief. You will present the policy brief in class during the final week of classes, and the written brief must be submitted by 11:59 p.m. on 12/8/2023 (Friday).

NOTE: I will be encouraging all students to present their policy briefs in the Undergraduate & Graduate Research Symposium in Spring 2024.

Bonus Point Opportunities

I will announce bonus point opportunities throughout the semester. These will include reaction posts for the guest speakers of the course (or virtual attendance when they join class). The max number of bonus points one may earn will be 50 points.

DISCUSSION QUESTION GUIDANCE

Asking good questions is an important skill. In some weeks, you will be asked to create a discussion question for your classmates.

--A good discussion question meets the following criteria:

- Is clear and easy to understand
- Has appropriate grammar, spelling, and punctuation
- Allows your classmates the opportunity to apply or critically think about a concept from the readings or to discuss an issue that is relevant to the topics for the week
- Is open-ended, allowing for a lengthy response. Adding a “why or why not” follow up question is appropriate
- Encourages deeper exploration of course topics
- Helps bring in new knowledge to the learning environment

--A good discussion question DOES NOT

- Ask for specific answers that can be easily found in the book or online (you’re not testing your classmates)
- Promote a certain opinion (e.g. Why should we do away with the electoral college?)

- Duplicate questions from other sources
- Present inaccuracies (e.g. Why does the President get to serve six terms?)

What you can expect from me:

- I will provide weekly communication with the class through announcements (email and posted on Blackboard), email notifications, and office hours.
- I will provide email responses within 24 hours of receipt during the hours of 9 a.m.-4 p.m., Monday-Friday.
- I will provide grades and feedback for assignments within one week of the submission due date.
- I will provide clear and concise instructions on how to complete the course requirements (please ask questions if something is not clear).
- I will provide a range of opportunities to engage in the course content in a meaningful way.
- I will stay abreast of the current research in the field to help you get the best possible experience in the course.

What I expect from you:

- You will familiarize yourself with the course syllabus, policies, assignments, materials, grading criteria, and course design.
- You will acquire the tools necessary to be successful in this class. This includes reliable Internet access and a device other than your phone for completing assignments.
- You will complete all assigned readings and coursework by assigned due dates.
- You will engage in the course, with your peers, and with me, using open and appropriate communication
- You will be diligent about using communication in a way that shows respect to me and your classmates
- You will submit college-level work that has been checked carefully for errors in spelling, grammar, and punctuation (using a free extension like Grammarly is recommended).
- You will respond to communication from me and your classmates in a timely manner (within 24 hours).
- You will not plagiarize the work of others or yourself, and you will also not collaborate with others on class assignments (unless clearly authorized to do so)
- You will reach out to me immediately if you are having trouble in the class or with access to course materials (although please call the Help Desk--888.837.6055 for general access issues).

OTHER COURSE POLICIES & RESOURCES

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY: Students in this class are expected to demonstrate scholarly behavior and academic honesty in the use of intellectual property. Students should submit work that is their own and avoid the temptation to engage in behaviors that violate academic integrity, such as turning in work as original that was used in whole or part for another course and/or professor; turning in another person's work as one's own; copying from professional works or internet sites without citation; collaborating on a course assignment, examination, or quiz when collaboration is forbidden. Students should also avoid using open AI sources unless permission is expressly given for an assignment or course. Violations of academic integrity can result in failing assignments, failing a class, and/or more serious university consequences. These behaviors also erode the value of college degrees and higher education overall.

As an SRSU student, it is your responsibility to read and understand the university's expectations about academic integrity. All violations will be taken seriously and handled through the appropriate university process. The policy can be found at: <https://www.sulross.edu/about/administration/university-policies/>

In addition, please note that plagiarism detection software will be used in this class for written assignments. Respondus Lockdown and Monitor will likely be used for the two exams as well.

If you have any questions about this, please ask!

LATE WORK:

I have been very intentional about how I have designed this course and distributed the content to optimize your learning and comprehension. Trying to cram weeks of work into a few days or waiting until the end of the semester to do everything isn't conducive to learning. For this reason, you must have an extenuating circumstance and approval from me to submit late work. If you submit late work without an approved extension from me, I reserve the right not to grade it. IMPORTANT NOTE: Since university-related travel (e.g., travel for athletics competition) is planned in advance (with a few exceptions), make sure to plan ahead and submit assignments before departure to avoid missing deadlines.

COURSE BLACKBOARD RESOURCES:

There are several resources on the course Blackboard page. You are expected to review and familiarize yourself with the items in Blackboard in the first week of class. NOTE: Please post general, course-related questions to the discussion board forum I have set up for this. Typically, if one student in the class has the question, others do as well. Please allow 24 hours for a response, and then feel free to email me or call me directly with your question.
