This course is a survey of Environmental Literature. Our method will be to read, write and discuss, over and over. There is no greater luxury than to read and think, except perhaps to share ideas with others. Thoreau, in his essay "Walking" on education would say that to "saunter" in the woods, thinking, questioning, and connecting with real living things is the highest and holy (saintly) freedom (free from property—sans terre). This class sets aside time for reading, talking and connecting. We will also read contemporary articles on current issues each week. The retreat into nature is an act of non-conformity, as are reading, writing and thinking. Why else were universities founded in remote places? Resistance--the term Thoreau used in the title of his essay on civil disobedience--is a near synonym for non-conformity. The antidote for a corrupt, exploitative, and militaristic social system is found in nature: "In wildness is the preservation of the world," wrote Thoreau. Environmental writing does two things: it identifies with the natural world while seeking to protect it. And it casts a critical gaze at anthropocentric economic system which is destroying divine creation.

Marketable Skills:

1. Students will communicate effectively in writing and speaking.
2. Students will use different research strategies to address problems and develop ideas that engage a variety of perspectives.
3. Students will recognize how social and cultural contexts shape meaning and language.

Student Learning Outcomes:

SLO 1 – Students will be able to construct documents that demonstrate unity, organization, coherence, and development, and are grammatically correct.

SLO 2 – Students will be able to analyze and interpret literary works by applying principles of critical thinking, literary criticism, or theoretical engagement.

SLO 3 – Students will be able to produce researched documents that demonstrate the ability to locate a variety of credible sources, employ them effectively through quotations and paraphrases, integrate them smoothly into the writer's own prose, and document them correctly using the style appropriate to the document.

Class Participation

The class participation grade will be determined by

- a. Participation in sustainability events
- b. Attendance
- c. Participation in classroom discussion and problem solving.

Attendance

Two absences are permitted during the semester. One letter grade will be subtracted from the Class Attendance percentage for each additional absence. More than nine (6) unexcused absences will result in the student being dropped from the course with a failing grade. Absences resulting from required school activities, direct personal emergencies, or health issues will be excused—but you must notify the instructor within one week of the absence and make up any class work in a timely manner.

ProjectsI. Response Papers (600 points; 4 total @ 150 points each)

There will be one response paper due for each of our three books and a unit on poetry. Writing allows people to reflect, organize their ideas, and present evidence. Therefore, each response paper must be at least two pages in length. Write an interpretive essay about the reading. To illustrate your argument, refer to a place you know in order to compare and contrast with the landscape described in the reading.

Other expectations:

- Provide a title
- At least two (2) pages for each paper
- Organize your ideas into paragraphs—at least four.
- Explain one meaningful aspect of the literature
- Quote the readings and cite the page numbers in MLA style.
- Relate and extend the ideas in the reading to current environmental issues and your own life.
- Explain the meaning and relevance of the texts. Do not summarize.

2. Term Paper (300 points; Due April 29)

Write a term paper of at least four pages which associates one of the readings to an excursion into the nature that you took during the semester. You can do this by alternating interpretation of the text with description of your experience, and then tying the two together. You will need to plan a trip and be prepared to take notes and photos.

4. Final Exam (50 points)

The final Exam will give you an opportunity to synthesize ideas—to connect and apply the ideas of multiple writers. This is sometimes called inter-textual interpretation.

5. Class Participation (50 points)

The class participation grade will reflect engagement in class discussion, the planning of the midterm excursion, in-class writing and attendance.

Projects	Due Date	%	Points
Response Papers	4 150 points each 2 pages each	60	600
Experiential + Critical Term Paper	April 29	30	300
Final		5	50
Class Participation		5	50
Total Points Available		100	1000

Deadlines

Unless otherwise specified, all assignments will be turned in at the beginning of class on their due dates. All alternative arrangements must be approved before the relevant deadline. Late work without previous arrangement with me will only be accepted upon demonstration of extenuating circumstances.

Incompletes

Incompletes will only be granted if there is a valid reason why the student is unable to complete the course work due health, accident, or family emergency and at least 50% of the course assignments are completed.

Plagiarism and Academic Integrity

Dishonest acts, such as plagiarism (using words or a specific author's ideas from another source without acknowledging the source) or collusion (having other people write parts of your paper for you), may result in an "F" on the assignment and may lead to a disciplinary hearing conducted through the office of the Dean of Students, which could result in suspension or expulsion from SRSU. If you have questions about whether your use of other sources (such as books, websites, friends, or Writing Center tutors) is fair or not, please ask before turning in the work that you have a question about.

Classroom Climate of Respect

Importantly, this class will foster free expression, critical investigation, and the open discussion of ideas. This means that all of us must help create and sustain an atmosphere of tolerance, civility, and respect for the viewpoints of others. Similarly, we must all learn how to probe, oppose and disagree without resorting to tactics of intimidation, harassment, or personal attack. No one is entitled to harass, belittle, or discriminate against another on the basis of race, religion, ethnicity, age, gender, national origin, or sexual preference. Still, we will not be silenced by the difficulty of fruitfully discussing politically sensitive issues.

Diversity Statement

I aim to create a learning environment for my students that supports a diversity of thoughts, perspectives and experiences, and honors your identities (including race, gender, class, sexuality, religion, ability, socioeconomic class, age, nationality, etc.). I also understand that the crisis of COVID, economic disparity, and health concerns, or even unexpected life events could impact the conditions necessary for you to succeed. My commitment is to be there for you and help you meet the learning objectives of this course. I do this to demonstrate my commitment to you and to the mission of Sul Ross State University to create an inclusive environment and care for the whole student as part of the Sul Ross Familia. If you feel like your performance in the class is being impacted by your experiences outside of class, please don't hesitate to come and talk with me. I want to be a resource for you.
