Course Description:

In this course we will cover the fundamentals of cost accounting. We will also study the purpose of cost accounting, which is maximizing profits. We learn about maximizing profits through product costing, planning and control. We will expand on that knowledge by studying various methods of attaining these goals, such as job order costing, process costing, budgeting, standard costs, profit-cost volume relationships, analysis of variances, contribution approach, relevant costs, and inventory control.

This is a face-to-face course that will take place over the normal course of the Fall 2025 semester. There will be approximately 15 weeks in this course. We will cover information from 14 chapters over the course of the semester. See the course schedule for all due dates. For each module, there will be assignments to be completed through McGraw Hill's Connect program, which is linked to the required course textbook. In addition, there will be four normal Comprehension Opportunities (exams) throughout the course, that will test the knowledge that you have gained.

There will also be at least four discussions via Blackboard throughout the course. These discussions may be used to portray your understanding of the tools we are learning about and how they are important, as well as to bounce ideas off of your fellow students. The discussions may also be used as a tool to learn more about your fellow students and your professor.

You will also utilize skills learned throughout the course to complete an overall costing project, which will put you in the mindset of a cost accountant/business manager tasked with making decisions related to your own business to control costs.

Classroom Etiquette

We will be participating in discussions and interacting with each other throughout this course. It is important for all students to be respectful and kind to one another, regardless of any differences. The course requires respect be shown at all times.

Attendance

This course is an online course. We will not meet in person for classes. However, you are still responsible for viewing/reading class materials that are posted on Blackboard. These may include articles, videos, handouts, and/or lectures. Lectures might be provided via PowerPoint with voice overlay to discuss the topics, via video lectures to show you how to work out accounting problems, or both. You are responsible for the topics and the due dates.

Academic Honesty Policy

The University expects all students to engage in all academic pursuits in a manner beyond reproach and to maintain complete honesty and integrity in academic experiences both in and out of the classroom. The University may initiate disciplinary proceedings against a student accused of any form of academic dishonesty, including but not limited to, cheating on an examination or other academic work, plagiarism, collusion, and the abuse of resource materials.

Academic Dishonesty includes:

1. Copying from another student's test paper, laboratory report, other report, or computer files, data listings, and/or programs, or allowing another student to copy from same.
2. Using, during a test, materials not authorized by the person giving the test.
3. Collaborating, without authorization, with another person during an examination or in preparing academic work.
4. Knowingly, and without authorization, using, buying, selling, stealing, transporting, soliciting, copying, or possessing, in whole or in part, the contents of a non-administered test.
5. Substituting for another student; permitting any other person, or otherwise assisting any other person to substitute for oneself or for another student in the taking of an examination or test or the preparation of academic work to be submitted for academic credit.
6. Bribing another person to obtain a non-administered test or information about a non-administered test.
7. Purchasing or otherwise acquiring and submitting as one's own work any research paper or other writing assignment prepared by an individual or firm. This section does not apply to the typing of a rough and/or final version of an assignment by a professional typist.
8. "Plagiarism" means the appropriation and the unacknowledged incorporation of another's work or idea in one's own written work offered for credit.
9. "Collusion" means the unauthorized collaboration with another person in preparing written work offered for credit.
10. "Abuse of research materials" means the mutilation, destruction, concealment, theft, or alteration of materials provided to assist students in the mastery of course materials.

11. “Academic work” means the preparation of an essay, dissertation, thesis, report, problem, assignment, or other project that the student submits as a course requirement or for a grade.
12. “Falsification of Data” means the representation, claim, or use of research, data, statistics, records, files, results, or information that is falsified, fabricated, fraudulently altered, or otherwise misappropriated or misrepresented.

All academic dishonesty cases may be first considered and reviewed by the faculty member. If the faculty member believes that an academic penalty is necessary, he/she may assign a penalty, but must notify the student of his/her right to appeal to the department chair, the College Dean, and eventually to the Graduate Dean before the imposition of the penalty. At each step in the process, the student shall be entitled to written notice of the offense and/or the administrative decision, an opportunity to respond, and an impartial disposition as to the merits of his/her case. The decision of the Graduate Dean shall be final.

In the case of flagrant or repeated violations, the Graduate Dean may refer the matter to the Dean of Students for further disciplinary action. No disciplinary action shall become effective against the student until the student has received procedural due process except as provided under Interim Disciplinary Action.

Academic Integrity

Students in this class are expected to demonstrate scholarly behavior and academic honesty in the use of intellectual property. Students should submit work that is their own and avoid the temptation to engage in behaviors that violate academic integrity, such as turning in work as original that was used in whole or part for another course and/or professor; turning in another person’s work as one’s own; copying from professional works or internet sites without citation; collaborating on a course assignment, examination, or quiz when collaboration is forbidden. Students should also avoid using open AI sources unless permission is expressly given for an assignment or course. Violations of academic integrity can result in failing assignments, failing a class, and/or more serious university consequences. These behaviors also erode the value of college degrees and higher education overall.

Use of Generative AI in Course

The use of generative AI is encouraged with certain tasks and with attribution: You can choose to use AI tools to help brainstorm assignments or projects or to revise existing work you have written, such as discussion posts. When submitting work, students must clearly identify any writing, text, or media generated by AI. This can be done by presenting AI generated text or writing in a different font color. The prompts used with the generative AI tool, as well as the originally written text provided to the generative AI tool must be submitted, also.

Classroom Climate of Respect

Importantly, this class will foster free expression, critical investigation, and the open discussion of ideas. This means that all of us must help create and sustain an atmosphere of tolerance, civility, and respect for the viewpoints of others. Similarly, we must all learn how to probe, oppose and disagree without resorting to tactics of intimidation, harassment, or personal attack. No one is entitled to harass, belittle, or discriminate against another on the basis of race, religion, ethnicity, age, gender, national origin, or sexual preference. Still we will not be silenced by the difficulty of fruitfully discussing politically sensitive issues.

Assignments

Assignments will not be accepted late. Most assignments will be completed through McGraw-Hill's Connect platform and will differ, depending on the chapter. There will usually be two homework assignments per chapter. Some weeks there might be more or less assignments. These assignments will be due on Friday evenings at 10 p.m. They will open on the Saturday before at midnight, so you will have a full week to complete the assignments. If there are extenuating circumstances that keep you from completing the assignments, please let the instructor know BEFORE the due date. You will be given seven days to complete the online assignments, so there should be plenty of time to let the professor know of your situation or to complete the assignments. Be responsible with your time. There will also be class discussions via Blackboard. These discussions will be a combination of topics that are both accounting and non-accounting related. The discussions will be used to strengthen your communication skills and get to know your fellow students and professor more. They will also be used to measure your comprehension of accounting topics discussed in class.

Costing Project

At the end of the semester, we will participate in an activity, in which you are placed in the mindset of a new business owner that needs to cost out their product! You will be given a list of parameters related to costing out your finished product. The knowledge needed to “cost” a finished product will be learned throughout the course. You will use the information given to you to find out different types of costs that you will incur as a new business owner based on the business you choose to pursue for your final product. You will have to analyze the costs of your product that you want to sell and put yourself in the mind of a business owner to determine the price that you will need to sell the product at, based on particular profit goals.

Comprehension Opportunities (Exams)

There will be four Comprehension Opportunities throughout the semester. The first and third Opportunity will cover four chapters. The second and last Opportunity will cover three chapters. Opportunities will be taken online using Blackboard. The Opportunities have due dates listed on the course schedule. This is the date that the Opportunity is due. The Opportunities will be taken online through Blackboard. They will be open for two days, starting the day before it's due on the course schedule at midnight and will end on the scheduled due date at 10 p.m. See the course schedule for the due dates. If you are going to miss a Comprehension Opportunity, please notify the professor as early as possible. We can work together to schedule a time to take the Opportunity. If you have a family or medical emergency, please discuss it with your professor as soon as possible.
