Students should use their Sul Ross email accounts to communicate and submit online assignments through Blackboard, which requires secure login. Students enrolled in distance education courses at Sul Ross are expected to follow all policies related to academic honesty and proper student conduct, as outlined in the student handbook. Students in web-based courses must maintain appropriate equipment and software according to the course requirements, as detailed on the SRSU website.

TECHNOLOGY REQUIREMENTS:

Since the Counselor Education Program is primarily delivered online, students must have their own computers and internet connection capable of supporting the required technology, including audio, a camera, Chrome, Blackboard, Zoom, YouTube, and other applications. Not having the necessary technology at any time is not an excuse for failing to submit an assignment, participate in a TEAMS or Blackboard session, or take an exam.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY:

Students in this class are required to demonstrate scholarly behavior and academic honesty in the use of intellectual property. A scholar is expected to be timely, prepared, and focused. Meaningful, respectful, and pertinent online participation is also expected.

Examples of academic dishonesty include but are not limited to: submitting work as original that was used in whole or part for another course and/or professor; turning in another person's work as one's own; copying from professional works or internet sites without citation.

DISABILITY STATEMENT:

SRSU Disability Services. Sul Ross State University (SRSU) is committed to providing equal access in accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1973. It is the student's responsibility to check the Discussion Board and Sul Ross email DAILY throughout the course. To stay enrolled in EDUC 5314, you must reply to the Blackboard Discussion Board "Online Participation Policy" forum by the deadline listed in the Due Dates section of this syllabus. At Sul Ross State University, if a student enrolled in an online course remains inactive for three weeks, fails to submit assignments, or does not respond to instructor emails, they will receive a final grade of "F." You can access the "Online Participation Policy" forum by logging into Blackboard and selecting Discussion Board.

Please follow the directions regarding your required response.

Virtual Participation:

As your instructor, I emphasize the importance of individual class participation. The interactive part of this course is essential. Since this is an asynchronous class, we will not meet regularly like in a synchronous class. I will present and record the topic for each module, and you are welcome to join me at the scheduled Collaborate Class Meeting Time or review the recording later. Your discussion board post must include reflections on the chapter reading and teaching segment. Active, thoughtful, and timely participation from each student helps others improve their reasoning skills by sharing your rich cultural and personal experiences. The intercultural backgrounds of students greatly enrich everyone's learning. Please feel free to reach out to me anytime if you encounter any difficulties.

Late Work:

Assignments must be turned in weekly.

Grading/Feedback:

Most grading is technologically driven, and grades are posted immediately. However, some quizzes require professor review and grading. In cases where grading is not instantaneous, I will complete all grading weekly. This will provide ample time for students to review their outcomes. Students are welcome to contact me anytime to schedule an appointment with me virtually to address any questions.

Collaborate Class Recordings: Discussion Board:

This course is asynchronous and does not require students to attend class. Consequently, students must demonstrate a higher level of responsibility and maturity to complete class assignments and acquire the developmental skills needed to care for clients experiencing mental health problems. You are required to enter a narrative piece reflecting on the Collaborate class recording.

As your instructor, I emphasize the importance of individual class participation. The interactive component of this course is essential; it will improve your reasoning skills by leveraging the diverse experiences of other students. The intercultural backgrounds of students greatly enrich everyone's learning in class.

Since attendance is not required, I will upload Collaborate Ultra class recordings and ask each student to watch and write a reflection that demonstrates your understanding of the professor's instructional recording. Please use the video reflection rubric to write your reflection and upload your paper accordingly. Each discussion entry is worth up to 120 points, which will be converted to a letter grade. The total of all discussion board grades will be divided by 14 to determine your final letter grade.

Video/Article Reflection:

Students will access and review the Video or Article Reflection section and write a 3-paragraph reflective comment about the assignment. There are 14 graded video/article reflections, each worth up to 120 points. The comment must include your interpretation of the theme or message the author is trying to convey. Add any reasoning based on the content, your thoughts and emotions experienced while watching the video, and how the information might influence future activities. Refer to the rubric below to understand how your skills will be assessed. Feel free to share a personal experience triggered by the video, but please consider confidentiality before discussing sensitive information in a public setting.

The assignments mostly consist of short video clips but may consist of an article, or a guest person presentation. You will select the topic title (i.e., VR 1, etc.) for the video clip assigned for the module. After selecting the title, you are required to select the thread title. Review the video clip and enter your reflection by choosing the "Reply" feature and enter your reflection. The following rubric is provided to guide your responses.

Concepts and Theories Guide:

The Texas Licensure Professional Counselor Board places major emphasis on personalities and theories. A significant number of questions in the NCE Exam derive from this area. Moreover, a major component of counseling is that each student submits a weekly paper, which includes the following sections, by uploading it to the designated assignment for a grade and at the end of the semester for a final grade. The sections are:

- 1. The Life of the Theorist
- 2. Human Nature Perspective
- 3. Concepts of Personality
- 4. Assessment of the theory
- 5. Criticisms of the theory

Each student will aggregate each theorist's elements of his or her theory and use it as a study guide for the NCE exam.

The Comprehensive Exam Review for the Counseling Theories Review Section will include the following:

- -Freud's theory and origins
- -Different theoretical camps and which theories are related
- -Adlerian theory, theorists, vocabulary, methods
- -REBT theory, philosophy and techniques
- -Reality therapy focus
- -Person-centered theory, theorists, philosophy, goals
- -Existential theory, theorists, philosophy, goals
- -Beck and cognitive theory techniques

- -Feminist therapy themes
- -Solution-focused therapy techniques
- -Behavior Therapy and Behavior theory goals

Movie Reflection Paper (Title: "Frankie and Alice"):

The reflection paper aims to shift a student's learning approach from passive to active. Active learning improves reasoning skills that are crucial for a counselor. Like your video reflection forum entries, this assignment will help develop your counseling skills by understanding certain content while evaluating your internal processes.

This approach will motivate your learning and perceptive skills. Since counseling is considered scientific, use an APA format to write this paper, and it must contain at least four (4) pages of content, which does not include the Title page or Reference page(s). The writing lab has many writing resources that can assist you in understanding the mechanics involved in writing a reflective paper.
