Text: Animal Behavior. 12th Edition or earlier. Dustin Rubenstein & John Alcock.

Course Description: Animal Behavior is a course that ties together many different aspects of science, including genetics, neurology, communication, and reproductive biology. The goal of this course is to develop an understanding of animal behavior from an evolutionary approach, in such a way that we better understand why one behaves in one way and not another.

Student Learning Outcomes for Undergraduates in the Program

The graduating biology student graduating with a BS in Biology should be able to:

- 1) The student will be able to demonstrate an understanding of basic biological concepts, including but not limited to evolution via natural selection, cell theory, and the role and function of DNA.
- 2) The student will be able to demonstrate utilization of various field techniques toward addressing scientific questions in the specific discipline. These field techniques can include, but are not limited to, plant collection and processing, various animal collection techniques, ecological surveying and sampling, and biodiversity indexing.
- 3) The student will be able to use biological instrumentation to solve biological problems using standard observational strategies.
- 4) The student will develop writing skills by summarizing and critiquing recent relevant biological literature.

Student Learning Objectives for this Course:

- 1) Students will define the genetic and environmental basis of animal behavior.
- 2) Students will illustrate knowledge of the interaction between genetic and environmental components.
- 3) Students will demonstrate an understanding of the utilization of various forms of communication.
- 4) Students will demonstrate an understanding of the mechanics of reproductive behavior.
- 5) Students will apply game theory to social behavior.

Marketable Skills:

1. Students will be able to organize, analyze, and interpret data.
2. Students will be proficient at using presentation software.
3. Students will acquire experience in managing time and meeting deadlines.
4. Students will gain the ability to speak effectively and write concisely about scientific topics.
5. Students will acquire experience and guidance in the development of professional email correspondence.

Tests: There will be four exams over the course of the term, including a non-comprehensive final exam. Each exam will cover approximately one quarter of the course material as outlined below. The exact timing of these exams will be flexible in keeping with the progress of the lectures. However, in the spirit of fairness, students will be given at least 1 week notice prior to the date of each exam. Exams shall consist of multiple choice/short answer/short essay during class. In addition, graduate students will be required to complete a set of several take-home questions as secondary exams for each in-class exam.

Grading: Your grade will be assigned based on the percentage of points you get out of total possible. Each exam will account for between 200 and 250 points.

Attendance: Students missing 20% of lectures (6 lectures) may be dropped from the class per the SRSU catalog. Any student dropped for excessive absences will receive an F for the course grade. Please notify your instructor BEFORE missing class for authorized activities, death in the family, or illness. Exams missed for any reason must be made up within one week of the originally scheduled date. REGARDLESS OF WHY AN ABSENCE OCCURS, YOU MAY BE GIVEN AN F FOR THE COURSE GRADE IF YOU ACCUMULATE SIX ABSENCES.

Lecture courtesy: The general rules of classroom etiquette are below.

- 1) Please do not talk to others in class while the instructor is lecturing. If you have a question, ASK THE INSTRUCTOR! That's what I'm here for.
- 2) No eating, chewing, dipping, etc.
- 3) Please turn cell phones and pagers to silent while in class. They are disruptive to the entire class, and detract from learning.

Students with disabilities will be provided reasonable accommodations. If you would like to request such accommodations because of physical, mental, or learning disability, please contact the ADA Coordinator for Program Accessibility at 837-8203, FH 112.

A scholar is expected to be punctual, prepared, and focused; meaningful and pertinent participation is appreciated. Examples of academic dishonesty include but are not limited to: Turning in work as original that was used in whole or part for another course and/or professor; turning in another person's work as one's own; copying from professional works or internet sites without citation; collaborating on a course assignment, examination, or quiz when collaboration is forbidden.

Classroom Climate of Respect: Importantly, this class will foster free expression, critical investigation, and the open discussion of ideas. This means that all of us must help create and sustain an atmosphere of tolerance, civility, and respect for the viewpoints of others. Similarly, we must all learn how to probe, oppose and disagree without resorting to tactics of intimidation, harassment, or personal attack. No one is entitled to harass, belittle, or discriminate against another on the basis of race, religion, ethnicity, age, gender, national origin, or sexual preference. Still we will not be silenced by the difficulty of fruitfully discussing politically sensitive issues.

Supportive Statement: I aim to create a learning environment for my students that supports various perspectives and experiences. I understand that the recent pandemic, economic disparity, and health concerns, or even unexpected life events may impact the conditions necessary for you to succeed. My commitment is to be there for you and help you meet the learning objectives of this course. I do this to demonstrate my commitment to you and to the mission of Sul Ross State University to create a supportive environment and care for the whole student as part of the Sul Ross Familia.
