ACADEMIC ETHICS: Please remember that genuine success stems from learning how to do the work independently. Your instructors believe that you are an honest individual and expect that all of the work that you do results from your own efforts. You know that a college education costs too much for you to waste your time trying to beat the system rather than figuring out how to learn the material. You know that any form of cheating is dishonest, and it makes you look very bad. Your instructor will have specific responses to any academic dishonesty that s/he may encounter. A repeated instance of academic dishonesty may result in your situation being forwarded to the Dean of Student Life. Please see the SRSU Student Handbook for a more complete discussion of academic honesty.

ATTENDANCE POLICY: Sul Ross State University and the State of Texas require each student liable for any portion of the Texas Success Initiative (TSI) to attend and participate in developmental coursework. If you fail to attend and/or participate, you will earn an "F" for the course. Also, it is a course requirement that you take the final exam. Failure to do so could result in your earning an "F" for the course.

If you must be absent, you are responsible for finding out what was covered and assigned in class in order to be prepared when you return to class. According to the University catalog, "When a student has to miss class due to an authorized University activity, it will be the responsibility of the student to notify the instructor of the class in advance [and to complete all assignments] within a reasonable time and at the convenience of the instructor."

See your instructor's syllabus addendum for specific attendance criteria.

If you are absent from class, you will want to contact a classmate and get the notes that you missed.

Course Commitment: You will make the decision about how long it takes you to clear your developmental writing requirement. Please keep these thoughts in mind:

- 1) Your registration in this course is the result of your test scores and, at this time, those scores do not indicate that you could be successful in an intensive writing college level class. We want you to be successful in your college-level courses, so learn everything that you can in this class.
- 2) It costs as much to take this class (nearly a $1000) as it does to take any other SRSU three-hour course. Yet you know that this course does not count towards your degree. You will save money and time if you decide to clear your developmental writing requirement as quickly as possible.
- 3) You are the only one who can make the commitment to be successful in this class. You will decide how much time you spend doing homework, asking your instructor questions, and visiting with a tutor. So come to class and complete this course with a grade of "C" or better this semester.

Student Assistance: Tutors are available in the Tutoring and Learning Center, first floor of the Library, free of charge. Please check with the Tutoring and Learning Center for hours and days of tutor availability.

Ms. Hilscher's Addendum

SRSU's Artificial Intelligence (AI) Statement: The University does not recommend or endorse any specific AI tools or resources. Students should be aware that many generative AI tools (e.g., ChatGPT, Google Gemini, Microsoft Copilot) store user input and may use this data to train future models. For this reason, students should never upload or share personal, confidential, or identifiable information—such as names, ID numbers, health data, or assignment submissions containing such details—into any generative AI platform. When using AI tools, students should verify whether the tool complies with student privacy standards as indicated by the University. Faculty may recommend specific tools that better align with institutional data privacy policies, but ultimate responsibility for data protection rests with users. Students are encouraged to use faculty-recommended platforms when engaging in coursework involving generative AI. The University is not liable for any adverse experience or impact when students interact with these tools.

The emergence of generative AI tools (such as ChatGPT and DALL-E) has sparked interest among many students in our discipline. The use of these tools for brainstorming ideas, exploring possible responses to questions or problems, and creative engagement with the materials may be useful for you as you craft responses to class assignments. While there is no substitute for working directly with your instructor, the potential for generative AI tools to provide automatic feedback, assistive technology and language assistance is clearly developing. Please feel free to reach out to me well in advance of the due date of assignments for which you may be using generative AI tools and I will be happy to discuss what is acceptable.

It is a violation of university policy to misrepresent work that you submit or exchange with your instructor by characterizing it as your own, such as submitting responses to assignments that do not acknowledge the use of generative AI tools. Please feel free to reach out to me with any questions you may have about the use of generative AI tools before submitting any content that has been substantially informed by these tools.

In this course, we may use generative AI tools (such as ChatGPT) to examine the ways in which these kinds of tools may inform our exploration of the topics of the class. You will be informed as to when and how these tools will be used, along with guidance for attribution if/as needed. Any use of generative AI tools outside of these parameters constitutes plagiarism and will be treated as such.

Attendance: Class attendance is mandatory and crucial to succeeding in this course.

If you only attend class twice a week, you will be dropped with an "F" after the 6th absence.

If you attend class three times a week, you will be dropped with an "F" after the 9th absence.

Three tardies count as one absence, so please come to class and be on time. Students who are sleeping in class will be marked as absent. Students who sit and do nothing when in-class work is assigned will be marked absent. Students who leave the classroom for extended periods or use cell phones or other electronic devices for anything other than classwork will be marked absent. Come to class, do your work, and you will pass this class.

Late Work: Do all assignments and turn them in when requested. We will do much of our work in class, so that is another excellent reason for you to be in class every day. I will accept late work under only the most egregious of circumstances, and I am the one who will decide if your circumstances are egregious or not. It doesn't happen often. Do not wait until the last minute to complete your work. This is your responsibility.

In other words, come to class, come to class on time, and come to class ready to work.

Grades: For your peace of mind and protection, keep all graded assignments. Don't throw away anything until you have received your final grade at the end of the semester. Also, by keeping your work, you will always have an approximate idea of what your current grade is.

Respect: I want you to feel free to speak your mind in this class. However, we will respectfully share our ideas. We don't have to agree with each other, but we do have to support each other's right to have a differing point of view.

E-Mail: You will want to check your Sul Ross e-mail regularly. It is an easy way for me to stay in contact with you and for you to stay in contact with me.

Course Requirements: This course is designed to help you become a stronger reader and writer. This class involves extensive reading and writing. I do not expect perfection from you, but I do expect your best effort. Becoming a better reader and writer requires you to work very hard, so that is what I expect from you – hard work and commitment. ENG 0309 can provide the foundation for your success in the university environment. You must take advantage of all the opportunities provided to you this semester in this course.

1. Journal: For the entirety of the semester, you will be tasked with keeping a journal where you will be given a daily prompt and time at the beginning of class to write. Each entry must be at least half a page long. You will submit this journal at various times during the semester, so please bring it to each class.

2. In-class/Blackboard Assignments: Each week, you'll be given an assignment to be completed in class. This could be in the form of a handout/worksheet, discussion, or reading. If you miss an in-class assignment, it is YOUR responsibility to reach out about the possibility of a makeup. A zero will be entered in the gradebook until then.

3. Quizzes/Exams:

- Quizzes: You will have several quizzes throughout the semester that will consist of questions from the readings and from the grammar lessons.
- Mid-Term Exam: The Midterm Exam will consist of the lessons and chapters we have read up to that point in the semester.
- Final Exam: The Final exam will consist of all the lessons we have reviewed throughout the semester, as well as the book chapters from the Midterm to the end of the book.
- If you miss a quiz or the mid-term, it is YOUR responsibility to reach out about the possibility of makeup. A zero will be entered in the gradebook until then.

Class Structure (A Typical Class Day): The only way to truly become a better reader is to read, so we will spend much time on reading. This course will combine self-paced learning, lectures, and one-on-one assistance. We will learn the skills necessary to become better readers, so you can apply them to college-intensive reading courses.

Communication: If you need any assistance with the course, please don't hesitate to contact me. I cannot help you if you do not maintain effective communication.

Your final grade for the class will be calculated as follows:

Journals	25%
In-class/Blackboard assignments	50%
Quizzes/Midterm/Final	25%
